

QUESTION

Is there a way to create the functions without using loop